Clearing Way To Moon First Operations Successful

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 9 astronauts, working calmly and quietly, flawlessly performed the first key maneuvers Monday in a flight that will put America on the moon's threshold or slam the door indefinitely.

Air Force Col. James A. McDivitt and David Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweickart unveiled to space for the first time the buglike moon ship that is essential to America's drive for a lunar landing this summer.

Just before the crew called an end to the action-filled day, one of the astronauts told mission control they had been so busy "we kind of missed lunch."

"Roger, understand, you guys have really been at it," the controller replied.

After thundering into orbit atop the mighty Saturn 5 rocket, the world's largest, the crew executed the complicated docking and extraction of the lunar landing spacecraft in almost routine fashion. Then they circled the earth with the lunar module and command module locked together.

The crew then fired up the powerful service propulsion engine to test the handling characteristics of the piggyback spacecraft, a maneuver necessary to a flight to the moon.

A signal from the ground sent the S4B booster stage out of sight and into a solar orbit while the three crewmen watched.

Only minor problems appeared with either of the machines, and mission controllers indicated there was nothing to indicate the flight wouldn't continue for its full 10 days.

The space pilots, tired from more than 12 hours of constant labor since they were awakened Monday morning at Cape Kennedy, took off their confining pressure space suits, ate their first space meal and then powered down the spacecraft for the night.

The crew was to sleep simultaneously throughout the mission, McDivitt and Scott on their couches and Schweickart in a sleeping bag-like arrangement under the couches.

The only excited comment of the day from the crew came when a signal from the ground lit up the powerful rockets on the S4B and sent out of sight and toward the sun.

"It's on the way," Scott called as the huge rockets pushed the rocket hull away. "It's just like a bright star disappearing in the distance."

"Was there quite a bit of debris kicked out there, Apollo 9?"

mission control asked.

"You could see a lot of stuff coming out when he just started up," said one of the crewmen, "but then it just went into a nice bright light."

Moon Chances Noted

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Space experts predicted after Apollo 9 was launched Monday that American chances are better for beating the Soviet Union to the moon.

"I believe our chances of landing on the moon first are now substantially better," Dr. Werner von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center, said after the astronauts rocketed into a near-perfect orbit.

Recent Soviet flights indicate Russia is making a strong effort to build earth orbiting space stations. "But I am personally convinced they have not given up the moon" as a goal, von Braun said at a news conference.

Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director, said a meeting is planned in three weeks to decide if the next mission should be another flight in earth orbit or around the moon or if it should be skipped altogether.

The Apollo 10 vehicle—to be piloted by astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young—contains a lunar landing craft too heavy to safely taxi the astronauts to and from the moon surface.

Officials are considering, however, having the Apollo 10 crew fly to an altitude 10 miles above the moon's surface, where they will practice flying the lunar module in moon orbit.

Reds Hit Elections

BERLIN (AP) — West Germany's new Communist party joined its Soviet and East German partners Monday in sniping at the presidential election which the Bonn republic intends to hold in West Berlin.

While arrangements moved ahead for the voting by the 1,036-member Federal Assembly here Wednesday, the surrounding East Germans ignored an eleventh hour Western bid to sit down and resume talks about the mounting crisis.

The West German Communist party, who formed a legal party last year to succeed one long outlawed, attacked both the candidates seeking to succeed President Heinrich Lübke, who is retiring.

The Communists said Schroeder joined the Nazi party May 1, 1933, the year Hitler seized power, and later signed up with other Nazi organizations including the SA, which eventually became an elite fighting unit. Schroeder does not dispute this.

Czechoslovakia's official Communist newspaper, Rude Pravo, entered a declaration that the decision to hold the election in West Berlin—which the East contends is not a part of West Germany—will work against Bonn's announced policy of normalizing relations with Eastern Europe.

The Big Three Western allies notified the Russians the Soviet Union remains responsible for the safety of air traffic to West Berlin despite the Russian attempt Sunday to "absolve itself of responsibility."

The notification by the United States, Britain and France was delivered to the Russian representative at the four-power West Berlin Air Safety Center, who had warned that the Soviet Union would not guarantee the security of allied planes flying in West German lawmaking for the election.

All three allied air corridors from the west, defined in Big Four agreements, cross more than 100 miles of East German territory.

Court Hits Southern States

Election Laws Reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — South-ern states have the same proportion of white and Negro teachers.

Monday by the Supreme Court to seek federal clearance of all new state election laws that could even subtly dilute the Negro's right to vote.

Delivering the 7-2 decision, Chief Justice Earl Warren said this stiff federal supervision was intended by the 1965 federal Voting Rights Law, enacted by a Congress which was well aware of "the ingenuity of those bent on preventing Negroes from voting."

The ruling applies to the same states forbidden by the 1965 law from using literacy tests or devices for five years—Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia and 26 counties in North Carolina.

The law specifically directs these states to submit changes in registration or ballot counting to the U.S. attorney general or to the U.S. District Court in Washington.

Warren's opinion swept "minor" alterations in election procedures under the same command.

"The voting rights act," he said, "was aimed at the subtle, as well as the obvious regulations which have the effect of denying citizens their right to vote because of their race."

Two justices dissented, John Marshall Harlan in part and Hugo L. Black outright. Harlan said the majority was requiring a "revolutionary innovation in American government."

Black said the court was applying the "conquered province" concept to the South.

Both the Justice Department and the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund are pressing for the shifting of teachers within school systems until each school in the district

Shooting Incidents Responsible

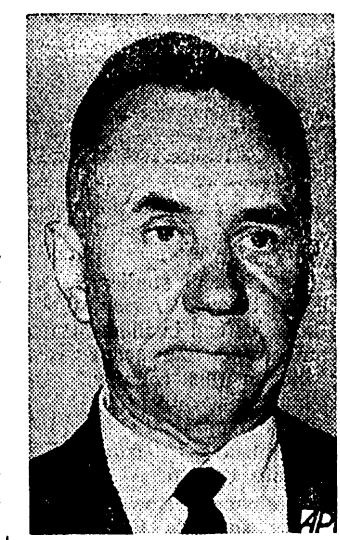

Pickets Hit Russian Embassy

TOKYO (AP) — Red Chinese swarmed around the Soviet Embassy in Peking Monday, chanting anti-Russian slogans while China and the Soviet Union swapped protest notes over a clash between their forces on the Manchurian border.

Plodding through snow, Red Guards and workers waved placards emblazoned with demands to "hang" Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and to "try" Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The Peking correspondent of the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said tens of thousands of demonstrators blocked the Soviet Embassy shouting "Down with the Soviet revisionists!" and "Down with American imperialism!"

In an unprecedented move, the Soviet government made public a note of protest which claimed that 200 Red Chinese soldiers took part in the shooting on Damansky Island in the Ussuri River which forms part of the border between Red China and the Soviet far east.

The Moscow note said some Soviet guards were killed and others wounded. It demanded "strictest punishment" for those responsible and added that steps must be taken at once to prevent any more such incidents.

Shooting incidents on the Soviet-Chinese border date to the regime of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, but this was believed to be the first time the Russians made an official announcement and disclosed that it had filed a protest.

Informed sources expressed belief that the Russians were anxious this time to beat Peking to the propaganda punch and perhaps set the stage for drumming Mao Tse-tung and his supporters out of the world Communist camp.

The New China News Agency, NCNA, said Peking countered with its own protest. Couched in similar terms to the Russian note, it called the disputed island Chenpao and claimed that it is "indisputable Chinese territory."

The Chinese Foreign Ministry said "large numbers of fully armed" Soviet troops crossed into Chinese territory in four armored cars and trucks despite repeated warnings from Chinese border guards and "outrageously ordered cannon and gun fire, killing and wounding many Chinese frontier guards."

Apollo 9 Families Feel No Anxiety

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Shivering in a bitter cold wind, Pat McDivitt said Monday she felt no apprehension over the Apollo 9 flight, "just a terrific urge for success."

"If I'm apprehensive, I don't know it," the blonde wife of the Apollo 9 commander told newsmen in an interview in her front yard.

She and the other Astronauts' wives, Ann Scott and Clare Schweickart, waited to talk with reporters until completion of the tricky docking maneuver of moonship and spaceship, executed flawlessly only hours after liftoff from Cape Kennedy.

"I was more apprehensive this time," said Mrs. Scott, whose husband had to make an emergency landing in Gemini 8 in 1966. "I don't mean to say I was terribly apprehensive. I was a little more prepared for any eventuality.

"My previous experience made me more aware of all the possibilities," Mrs. Scott said.

Mrs. McDivitt said, "I didn't want to come out and talk to you until they had a (lunar module, the spidery spacecraft that will ferry American astronauts to the moon)."

Wearing a blue sweater and white slacks, she joked with newsmen. Would she like her husband to go to the moon?

"Sure."

"You want to go with him?"

"No."

She said, however, she's never worried about her husband's safety. He is making his second flight in space. "Success is what you want. He'll be safe."

Mrs. McDivitt appeared elated at the telephone call she received shortly before launch from President Nixon, who expressed best wishes to the space trio and their wives.

The children of the three crew members took an abbreviated holiday from school to watch the spectacle of a Saturn 5 rocket hurling their fathers into space.

"I want them to remember it as the high point of their lives," Mrs. Schweickart said.

The five Schweickart children, range in age from 4 to 9. Asked her thoughts in the 20 seconds before liftoff, she said, "I didn't think."

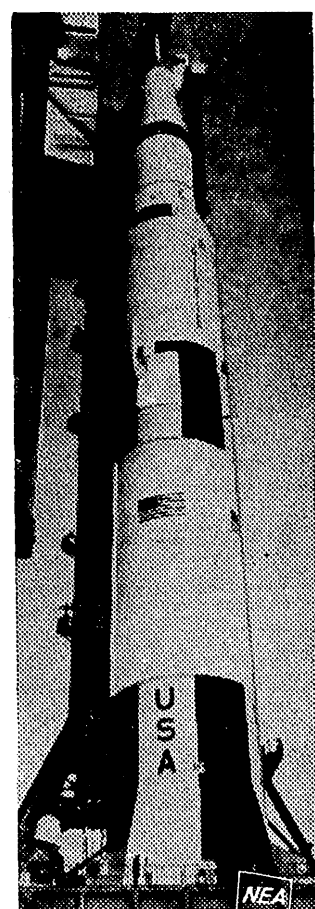

"This is the hardest part of the flight," remarked Mrs. Scott, the pretty, dark-haired wife of the command module pilot.

She echoed Pat McDivitt's feelings on her husband's future space mission.

"Whatever he wants to do, I'm all for it. I'm just a little numb at this point."

Eisenhower Continues Complicated Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 78, continued to show progress Monday in his recovery from major surgery and the pneumonia that complicated it.

"General Eisenhower's progress, one week after major surgery, is indeed gratifying," his doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said.

Eisenhower "spent a restful night and continues to improve steadily," a midmorning medical bulletin reported. "His strength is gradually returning, his vital signs remain stable, and the area of pneumonia continues to clear. His diet is being gradually increased."

The five-star general, who has suffered three heart attacks since his hospitalization last

May 14, underwent high-risk surgery Feb. 23 for the removal of scar tissues blocking the passage of food through his small intestine.

Like many elderly patients recuperating from surgery, he developed pneumonia in his right lung Thursday.

A hospital official said Eisenhower spends much of his time sleeping, "which we're encouraging, of course," but in his waking hours "his mind is alert and active."

"The normal critical postoperative period is two weeks," the official told a reporter. "With his age and history, of course, it could be longer. It's not like a 21-year-old after an appendectomy."

Abortion Issue Stirs Paradoxes

Like old soldiers, old issues that were once guaranteed to inflame emotions have a tendency just to fade away.

The abolition of capital punishment is no longer the clarion call to controversy it once was. Without any final resolution of its pros and cons, the supreme penalty is simply being applied less and less frequently in fewer and fewer states.

The same emotions, and many of the same arguments concerning the questions of values and of rights once invoked for or against capital punishment, have lately been transferred to an issue having to do with the other end of the spectrum of human life—the once-taboo subject of abortion.

Here we are presented with the seeming paradox that some who are most adamantly opposed to the right of the state to take a life also argue for the right of every woman to decide whether she will or will not bear the child she may be carrying.

Conversely, some who are most distressed at the disappearance of capital punishment are most aroused by the idea of legalized abortion, even in those cases where, because of diagnosed mental or physical deformity in the fetus, birth would actually be an undeserved sentence to lifelong punishment—for the child, its parents and society.

The moral questions surrounding abortion will never be resolved to everyone's satisfaction, any more than have those surrounding capital punishment. But it is likely, too, that in the former case as in the latter, the law will change not because of any national moral consensus but simply because it does no demonstrable good, and sometimes harm.

The strictest antiabortion laws do not prevent illicit abortions, which occur by the hundreds of thousands every year in the United States. Neither have those states which have liberalized their laws noted any decline in the number of illegal operations.

Thus even some churchmen and some church groups appear to be moving toward a position, not of moral, but of legal neutrality on abortion.

At recent legislative hearings on a proposed revised abortion law in New York, the New York State Council of Churches, a Protestant body, stated that the state's only involvement should be to require that abortions be carried out under normal medical and health laws.

A prominent Catholic and vigorous opponent of abortion, The Rev. Robert F. Drinan, dean of the Boston College Law School, argues against reformed abortion laws because it introduces into law the principle of "justifying the elimination of a life."

It would be preferable, he says, to "keep the state out of the business of decreeing who is to be born" entirely. Abortion would continue to be an immoral act condemned by his church but not punishable by the state as a crime.

We have had separation of church and state from the beginning of this country. We now seem to be in the midst of a trend toward separation of morality and state, of which the past controversy over capital punishment and the current one over abortion are leading and related examples.

Communication

To The Editor:

In the Friday, February 21st, issue of the Courier a communication from a very concerned citizen is printed. This letter concerns the lowering of the voting age. I would first like to compliment this person for taking time to show concern for the younger generation. A person who is concerned enough in these busy times to sit down and express himself in a letter to his local newspaper as to how today's younger generation can best be helped is a very rare and valuable person.

However, I must disagree with him on several of his well made points. This person fails to take into account that students who are conducting sit-ins on college campuses are in a very small minority in relation to the size of the college that they are attending. The recent sit-in at the University of Chicago was reported to have been supported by approximately two hundred students at its highest point. This is only two percent of the total enrollment of students of that university. Random cross-samplings of college campuses across the nation have shown that even at "liberal" universities, two percent is the maximum number of students who participate in activities like sit-ins and the such.

This person, who shall be called Mr. Name Withheld from this point on, stated that the smoking of "Pot" and the use of "LSD" is an accepted way of life. Again, this is a very small minority that makes use of these drugs. My own experience as a college student has been that the vast majority of college students are much too concerned with their school work and future to dabble with "Pot," much less "LSD." One might ask the question: Who supplies the young people with these drugs? In the beginning it was the small minority of adults who were out for a fast buck at anyone's expense. Using the logic and some of the assumptions that were used by Mr. Name Withheld, one can safely say that all adults are bad and are out for a fast buck at anyone's expense. This is the point that I have been trying to make. Mr. Name Withheld is guilty of the same thing that many of us are guilty of: Judging the majority by the actions of a few.

The young people of today know more and are more interested in the running of the nation and the world than any generation of young people before. They feel that they must do something now! The majority of us want to vote to make changes.

To the Editor:

I feel sorry for some of the college people of today who are rejecting our society. In their blind ignorance they have not thought through all the ramifications of their rebellion. In the first place, if their rebellion is successful, what kind of system are they going to put in place of this one. Obviously, it would have to be one of complete freedom for everyone to do as he pleases. This would mean utter chaos. You can just see someone running down a pedestrian because he wants the right of way, then a big truck comes along and pushes his car out of the way because he, too, wants the right of way—and so it goes. Who would give the world 24 hours to survive with that kind of freedom?

No, our society is not the best possible, but, thank God, we do have some measure of law and order (which gives freedom to do that which is right). These students need to go back to school a bit longer and then get some experience in the various areas of society; next, they must excel in their chosen field in order to earn the right to lead in bringing about social change. Civil disobedience is becoming an ever increasing snowball, and what is the real root of the problem?

I believe the answer is this—the churches have let down the bars on morality and have shifted the emphasis from individual responsibility for misconduct before God, to the behavior of social groups as they relate themselves to other social groups.

A chain is strongest only in its weakest link, and you cannot have misbehavior on the part of one person in society without it affecting the group. You must change the human heart to change society. To reverse the process, the unrestrained heart leads to rebellion and confusion, which is what we are having at the present time. Only Christ can change the human heart.

Hunger An Urgent Problem...In The United States

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Robert Coles recalls that two years ago he and five other physicians were told "we were wasting our time" when they sought to convince federal officials something should be done quickly about extreme hunger in the United States.

And when senators sought then to get the Johnson administration to distribute free food in areas of severe malnutrition, they were rebuffed by federal officials who contended they were without authority to do this.

But last week, in just 90 minutes, two senators convinced Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin that he should move against hunger in rural South Carolina by authorizing free food stamps to the poorest of the poor in two counties.

These things happened: —The Senate, rejecting a 40 per cent cut by its Rules Committee, authorized the full $250,000 budget for the committee's investigation. Support was so overwhelming opponents yielded without a roll call. McGovern said "They were really making a commitment to end hunger in the United States."

—Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., leaped into the vanguard of the fight against hunger with a frank admission that, as governor, he deliberately covered up the problem of hunger and disease. "You don't catch industry with worms—maybe fish, but not industry," he said.

—Hollings' Republican state colleague, Sen. Strom Thurmond, muted his earlier opposition to the hunger probe and said "The main concern should be to find the most effective way to resolve these needs."

—Testimony during three days of hearings clearly established that, in at least two counties of rural South Carolina, hunger and disease are widespread and existing federal efforts are having limited impact.

One witness testified there is evidence that as many as one million persons in the Southeastern United States are afflicted with parasites, including intestinal worms up to 15 inches long.

—Hardin, reversing the policies of Secretary Orville L. Freeman under the Johnson administration, launched what he said is an experiment and what the department termed an unprecedented action in authorizing the first distribution of food stamps without any charge to the recipients. Hopefully, distribution may begin within a week.

"I think it was a real breakthrough," McGovern told a reporter after he and Hollings met with Hardin Wednesday night.

And as the committee concluded the South Carolina phase of its hearings Thursday, the South Dakota Democrat said:

"If we can get the concept established that the poorest people ought to get fed for free, we're well on the way to eliminating malnutrition in the United States."

McGovern said he is pleased at the evidence of changed attitudes in Congress and the executive branch and said "I think the climate is much better than it was two years ago."

But these significant problems remain:

—Lack of funds. Hardin is using a $45-million fund established by Congress last year for child feeding and other food distribution, but this is a relatively small amount. Aid in South Carolina will only go to a small number of desperately poor, not even to many of those whose plight was described to the Senate committee.

—Health. Testimony to the committee indicated that nothing short of a massive education, sanitation and disease-eradication program will improve conditions in such areas since most youngsters who receive one-shot treatment are quickly reinfected when they return home.

Black Studies: How Useful In Building Of A Career?

By BRUCE BISSATT

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Once student rebels have seized upon an issue like "black studies," it is difficult for anyone to cut through the fog of emotionalism they generate and look rationally at the matter.

To judge from the frenzy, the violence and the vandalism being visited upon such campuses as San Francisco State and the University of Wisconsin, black studies are the biggest thing in the nation today.

The demands, initially advanced by black students but usually taken up by some white rebels, generally begin with a call for courses in "black subjects" and go all the way to insistence on departments (in one case, a separate college), all-black faculty chosen by black students without control or interference from the general faculty or university administrators.

Both black and white rebels making these demands normally couple them with a blanket charge that the school they are attacking as inadequate or lacking in "black studies" is governed by "white racism."

It seemed useful, therefore, to take a look at some strictly or largely Negro colleges—presumably free of the racist charge—to see what they have done and are doing in black studies.

Inquiries at Howard University in Washington, the five-school complex at the Atlanta University Center, and Tuskegee Institute in Alabama disclosed that only Howard now grants degrees in such studies. Tuskegee plans to start doing so next fall, but Atlanta still does not.

Howard has been awarding master's degrees in an African Studies Program since 1957. In 12 years, no more than 40 have been given, and at least half of these have gone to African students. But the number seeking such degrees has doubled in the last two years and in the current year alone there are 95 candidates.

What has happened to the American blacks who took African studies degrees at Howard? Officials indicate that most have gone into teaching African studies to others. Some wind up in government research or other work requiring African language or expertise.

At Atlanta, courses in African history, culture, language, peoples and economics have been given for periods of one or two years to a decade. Some relate African history to that of America or the Caribbean region. A few treat of the Negro and religion, or of his art and music.

The variety is probably greater at Howard, where 12 different African languages, including Swahili and Congolese, are taught. Tuskegee appears to offer a more limited range of choices.

Only a few courses sound as if they had direct application to American Negro life. One at Atlanta deals with black family life, another is called "Racism and the Law."

Most southern Negro students, say the officials at Atlanta and Tuskegee, take courses in African history or culture in the context of more general studies of America and the world. Their interest seems to be to relate their African heritage to America.

The disruptive students at Wisconsin and other northern schools appear rather to be insisting that black studies, heavily bent toward Africa, should be a major end in themselves—a means of preparing them for life in this country and of their helping others in the U.S. black community to "liberate themselves" from repressive white racism.

Yet the experience at Howard over 12 years suggests there is something painfully circular about the process the militant blacks and their white supporters are calling for. Students are demanding the chance to become experts in African studies so they can teach others to become similar specialists who in turn will do the same.

But even granting the educational expansion and the growth of government foreseen for the decades ahead, how wide is the utility of such study in a nation of mounting millions where millions of jobs calling for quite different kinds of expertise will beckon?

Child Favored In Will Despised By Others

Dear Ann Landers: I was especially interested in your advice to the parents who were about to write a will. They had three children and wanted to leave the bulk of their estate to the eldest child who had been thoughtful and kind. (The two younger ones had been selfish and inconsiderate.) You told them to go ahead and do it.

Well, this very thing happened in our family. I was the child who was favored. My brother and two sisters became ugly and resentful and instigated proceedings to break the will. When I heard of it, I went to my lawyers and told them I didn't want anything and to please divide the estate three ways and leave me out. The lawyers followed my instructions but it didn't improve the relationship with my brother and sisters. Now they have all the money but they still hate me.

So next time, Ann, please advise the parents to write a will that treats all children equally and is ironclad—one that cannot be broken or altered, no matter who says what.—SIBLING SORROW

Dear S.S.: The letter you refer to produced an unexpected deluge of angry protests.

I was surprised that so many readers felt parents should divide their estate equally among their children regardless of how they were treated.

Many wrote to say the child who is favored is despised by the others. They stopped speaking and their children grew up as strangers.

In spite of the criticism I am sticking by my original advice. Parents do not owe their children an inheritance. An inheritance is a gift and should be so regarded.

Dear Ann Landers: Jim and I have been married 14 years. He is handsome and has an outgoing personality. He draws people like a magnet. Especially women.

At a recent office party a new stenographer caught my eye. She was easily the most attractive girl there—and the most aggressive. I saw her go over and ask Jim to dance. While they were dancing, she massaged the back of his neck, rubbed his chest under his suit coat, and at times I was sure if she got any closer, she'd be behind him.

I am eight months pregnant with our sixth child. I should say sixth and seventh because Offstage he peers thoughtfully through rimless glasses and speaks in scarcely audible tones. This was James Earl Jones, sitting in a corner of his West End Avenue apartment after another punishing performance of "The Great White Hope." By 1970, film audiences will be able to witness his acting style. He has been chosen to repeat the role in the 20th Century-Fox film version to be produced by Lawrence Turman ("The Graduate") and directed by Martin Ritt ("Hud").

"I've got to get back in trim," he said with a grin, gazing down at his belly. "I've also got to learn how to box. I do all my fights offstage in the play, but I guess I'll have at least two big fights in the picture."

"It will take some study to learn the Johnson style. He was a transition fighter, between the hands-forward fashion of John L. Sullivan and the dodging, boxing method of today."

Jones, who is 38 and looks ageless with his shaved head, may well be the next important black star of films. He is starting at the top—not counting small roles in "The Comedians," "Dr. Strangelove," and an unreleased film.

After "The Great White Hope," he hopes to play the title role in "Malcolm X"—if Columbia can provide a suitable script. Then he is committed to star in the controversial "Nat Turner" for Fox, which has signed him for two other films as well.

The project is based on William Styron's bestseller, "The Confessions of Nat Turner," the fictionalized account of the slave who led a bloody revolt early in the 19th century aroused strong protests from certain Negroes, notably actor Ossie Davis, who threatened a boycott of the film.

The protests were recently resolved when the film company agreed to shorten the title and eliminate scenes of Turner's homosexuality and lusting after white women.

NAME PRIEST TO ST. JOSEPH PARISH AT MT. STERLING

MT. STERLING — Announcement has been made by Bishop William O'Connor of Springfield that Father Edward Adamski of Hume will assume pastorate duties at St. Joseph's Catholic church here. Father Adamski will take over his new charge Tuesday, March 11th.

Rev. Leonard Rathgeb, who served St. Joseph's, has been assigned pastor in Hillsboro. Father Adamski was ordained into the priesthood in 1949.

Harold Zipse has returned to his home in Mt. Sterling after being a patient in Schmitt hospital at Beardstown.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Harris of Timewell became parents of a son born Feb. 23rd at St. Mary's hospital at Quincy.

Mrs. G. H. Long and sister, Mrs. Ruby Hudson, both of Mt. Sterling, returned to their homes Feb. 28th after an extended trip through Florida.

Male Brain Heavier, Not The Smarter

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It isn't how much a brain weighs, it's what you can do with it that counts. Man's brain slightly outweighs that of woman's, but science hasn't been able to prove he's more intelligent—something women have been saying for a long time.

Think you can drink and drive? Well, for your family's sake at least leave the car in the garage on Saturdays. That's the day when most fatal crashes involving alcohol occur.

To get your time's worth during a three-minute call from a phone booth, talk faster. A slow talker can get only about 400 to 450 words off his chest in that time, but a fast talker can do 600 or more.

Schizophrenia, or "split personality," is the most widespread mental disease and occurs around the world in all races and cultures, affecting at least one out of every 100 persons. Researchers who believe it is caused by a chemical imbalance report they have had at least limited success by treating it with massive doses of vitamins.

Fair warning: The next time your kids turn up the rock 'n' roll too loud, tell them that a scientist recently subjected a guinea pig to 90 hours of 120-decibel "hard rock" music—and the animal ended up hard of hearing. If the guinea pig's ear can't take it, can the human ear?

Odd legislation: In the early 1800s, an ordinance introduced in the Philadelphia Common Council seeking to ban bathing from Nov. 1 to March 15 was defeated by only two votes.

Worth remembering: "The beauty of the old-fashioned blacksmith was that when you brought him your horse to be shod, he didn't think of 40 other things that needed to be done to it."

Nature notes: A whale can dive a mile deep and stay submerged for an hour before he has to surface and blow out stale air. The wild goose is as graceful as an airplane in flight, and about as complicated; it has 12,000 muscles, of which 10,000 control the movements of its feathers. The ant is an insect philanthropist. In one of its two stomachs it digests its own food, in the other it stores food it shares with other ants in its nest.

If you're a duffer at golf, make a reservation now for a trip to the moon. On its surface a 150-yard drive would travel half a mile.

It was Knute Rockne who observed, "Most men, when they think they are thinking, are merely rearranging their prejudices."

PRAYER SERVICE TO BE FRIDAY AT LYNNVILLE

The Women's Societies of the Ebenezer, Lynnville, Riggston-Merritt and Wesley Chapel United Methodist and the Lynnville Christian churches will hold a World Day of Prayer service at 2 p.m. Friday, March 7, at the Lynnville United Methodist church.

The program will include a panel conducted by representatives of the five congregations, a talk by Mrs. Sherwood Eddy, a solo by Mrs. Harlan Mason and a duet by Mrs. Earl Hempel and Mrs. Harold Hamel.

Everyone in the community is cordially invited to come and have a part in this world-wide observance.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, MARCH 4 — Born today, you are an emotional person who must learn, first of all, to keep a healthy balance between deep moods of anger, frustration, and depression and high moods of great joy, even hilarity. Somewhat inclined to doubt your own worth, you would be wise to get to know yourself well through some outside agency. Let those for and with whom you work bolster your confidence; let those who know your physical and mental condition buoy up your sense of well-being.

You have definite artistic talent which causes you to look at things differently from most people. Your reactions and responses, even to the most simple situations or circumstances, are quite likely to be extremely complex—so much so that there are times when you are not sure just what your reactions are. Obviously, you are not an easy person to understand; those who make the effort, however, are rewarded by friendship.

It is important to you to find a life partner who will take the trouble to fathom your moods and to remain by your side through the downs as well as the ups. It is quite possible that you yourself will precipitate marital difficulties through your own sense of unworthiness; a mate who knows how to instill self-confidence in you will be worth his or her weight in gold.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, March 5
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — You will not be able to accomplish all you plan to today unless you are willing to put forth more effort than usual.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — The freedom you allow yourself must also be granted others. Otherwise, you will find yourself at odds with friends.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — New adventures in creative thinking await the Taurus who puts today's experiences to good use. The unlikely is actually feasible.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Don't allow a difference of opinion with a close friend to keep you from enjoying the benefits of a sure thing.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Keep your patience with those who oppose your present plans. You should be able to gain support later on if you remain calm.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Keep your temper no matter what the provocation. It is the means—as well as the end—that counts today. Enjoy fruits of recent labors.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Minor differences must not be allowed to dent your hopes for the success of present projects. Join with others.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Though circumstance may buffet you about today, your own elasticity of spirit should enable you to bounce back in a hurry.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Distractions and obstacles may keep you from attaining your goal immediately. Don't lose sight of your aim, however.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Your love of pleasure may be in danger of keeping you from achieving your goal at this time. Schedule your time more wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — Make your approach in a peaceable manner. Otherwise, you may find that you've met your match on the home scene.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — If your memory seems a bit hazy where details are concerned, consult another. Don't try to act on your own from spotty facts.

Pilot Club Plans '69 Spring Tree Planting

The Pilot club of Jacksonville agreed at its board meeting Feb. 26th it would match public donations for the planting of trees, up to the sum of $500, in the early 1969 tree planting program. The tree planting is a project long supported by the local classified service club for business and professional women.

The meeting was held at Hamilton's and at the close of the session a chicken dinner was served with candles being lighted on a birthday cake made by Mrs. C. Y. Rowe. The cake honored anniversaries in February of Mrs. Loralee Huber, Miss Josephine Milligan and Mrs. Reid Lasley.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Mildred Hill. Committee reports were heard and communications included a letter from Pathway School for a donation from the club.

Finance chairman Mrs. Arthur Samore reported on the Hillcraft jewelry and Pilot cookbooks being sold. Either article makes an excellent gift, noted Mrs. Samore.

Mrs. Milton Stout is chairman of the Tree committee. She has just returned from an extended visit with her daughter in Guthrie, Oklahoma, and is now formulating plans for the planting of trees on boulevards in the city. Good trees are expensive but they stand a better chance of survival than smaller and inexpensive varieties, Mrs. Stout explained. Most areas where elm trees were once plentiful are now almost treeless, due to the Dutch elm disease so prevalent in the area. Mrs. Stout noted it will take years of constant planting to replace the once-stately elms of Jacksonville.

The monthly raffle was won by Mrs. Lasley. After the business meeting adjourned, members gathered at the home of Mrs. Milton Stout. There they worked on filling 11,000 envelopes with Easter Seals to be mailed to Morgan residents. This is another annual service by Pilots in the Seal campaign.

New Mumps Vaccine Proves Effective

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

The new live but weakened mumps virus vaccine should be given to all children over one year of age who have not had the disease. More than one million persons have received this vaccine and no significant side effects have been observed. It should not be given to anyone who is allergic to eggs or to neomycin, an antibiotic that is added in a small amount to the vaccine. It should not be given to pregnant women or persons with fever or leukemia. It gives effective protection against mumps in 95 per cent of those who receive it.

Q—My grandson is 17 months old. Will it retard his development if he doesn't take vitamins and doesn't get such foods as eggs, meat, vegetables and fruit instead of pickles, hot dogs and potato chips?

A—The only vitamin supplement a 17-month-old infant needs is vitamin D and this is now present in all fortified milk. The rest of his vitamins should be supplied in a balanced diet, which should include one egg, fruit and vegetables every day and liver once a week.

Most children like hot dogs (no mustard) and digest this kind of meat very well. Potato chips and an occasional pickle won't hurt him if he gets the other foods he needs. There are so many different kinds of malnutrition that only his pediatrician, whom he should be seeing at regular intervals, could say whether he has one of them.

Q—My teen-age son drinks milk at every meal but he also averages about a quart of cola a day. Is this hard on his kidneys? What would be a safe amount for him to consume?

A—Different persons tolerate different amounts of caffeine. Cola drinks contain about six milligrams per ounce and coffee three times as much. These drinks act as a mild diuretic (increase the production of urine by the kidneys) but do side effects have been observed. Excessive amounts have, however, been known to damage the heart. I would advise that your son cut his cola consumption in half and for the other half substitute fruit juice.

Q—My 18-month-old grandson has had diarrhea for several months. The pediatrician is giving him penicillin and other drugs but the diarrhea keeps on. What treatment do you advise?

A—A study should be made to determine the cause—bacterial or amebic dysentery, food allergy or celiac disease. The treatment would depend on the cause.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Jim: "I have just been looking over your copies of the first issues of The Bridge World magazine. Contract certainly was a different game in those days."

Oswald: "It was really only a year old. Invented by Harold S. Vanderbilt in the fall of 1927, it had begun to spread around in 1929 and most of the books on the game were by elderly men who had been auction bridge authorities. Most of them tried to use action methods in contract."

Jim: "Here is a hand written up by E. V. Shepard in which Mr. Shepard and his partner, George Kling, achieved amazing results."

Oswald: "Yes, indeed. If I had been South, you could have tried an egg just by holding it to my forehead if this had happened to me. The bidding was typical of an auction player's idea of contract. South's two-spade opening was strong but not forcing in those days. West's overall was normal and the bidding up to West's double was reasonable."

Jim: "Mr. Shepard opened the king of hearts and shifted to the four of clubs. Mr. Kling studied awhile, then played the five. From this point on, South was doomed. If he drew trumps, he would lose both his remaining hearts. If he didn't, West would get to ruff a club."

Oswald: "Shep was just about as nice a man as you would ever meet. The whole theme of the article was his partner's brilliance in ducking the first club. Had East taken the trick and returned the suit, South would have wound up with an overtrick."

Jim: "West's play succeeded only because South held three clubs, the singleton ace of diamonds and three hearts. How old was Mr. Shepard?"

Oswald: "Sixty! He looked mighty old to me then. Today he would be a youngster."

♥♦♣ CARD SENSE ♠

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♥	Pass	1♠
Pass	3♥	Pass	4♥
Pass	4♥	Pass	5♥
Pass	6♥	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠AK65 ♥32 ♦5 ♣AK10984
What do you do now?
A—Bid six hearts only. Your partner is making some belated effort to get to seven but if he had solid hearts and the ace of diamonds, he would have bid stronger along the way.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding four hearts your partner bids five clubs over your four clubs. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

Cabbage wedges, added to corned beef, taste best when they are not over-cooked. Add the cabbage about 20 minutes before the meat is done.

Allies Stop N. Viets In 4th Base Attempt

SAIGON (AP) — About 500 U.S. Marines fought off a strong North Vietnamese attack Monday on an artillery base three miles south of the demilitarized zone.

The enemy's drive was the fourth in that area since the Communist command opened its spring offensive Feb. 23.

Clinging to the contention that no concessions were made to halt the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam last Nov. 1, enemy forces elsewhere shelled Saigon and more than 30 other towns and allied posts.

Successful defense of the artillery base against repeated charges by scores of North Vietnamese infantrymen cost the Marines 13 men killed and 22 wounded.

The bodies of 20 North Vietnamese were found on the field after the fighting ended in late afternoon, the U.S. Command said. Ten weapons were seized.

The North Vietnamese force hit in the early morning hours. The enemy opened up with automatic weapons and small-arms fire, and the Marines fought back with their own machine guns, rifles and artillery.

Officers at Marine headquarters in Da Nang declined to speculate whether the attacks on the bases near the DMZ may signal a new outburst of sustained fighting along the once neutral buffer zone.

Three rockets fell in Saigon, killing 12 Vietnamese civilians and wounding 29. It was the third such blow at the capital in nine days. A U.S. Command communique called the shelling an indiscriminate attack "against nonmilitary targets." Radar-directed artillery worked over the suspected firing positions, in marshes seven miles east of Saigon, but results were not determined.

The U.S. Command described casualties and damage as light in the other shelling across the country.

At the same time it announced the loss of two U.S. aircraft in enemy ground fire. One was a Marine F4 Phantom shot down near Da Nang Sunday.

Apollo

"Beautiful," said a ground controller.

Minutes later, the ground announced shutdown of the rocket engine and McDivitt replied:

"Roger, he's just a speck in the distance right now."

Another ignition of the S4B engines later sent the rocket hull away from the earth and into an orbit of the sun.

The rocket reached a speed of more than a thousand miles a minute as it flashed away from the earth and out of contact with the ground controllers. It was more than 53,000 miles from earth when its engines cut off.

About three hours after their 11 a.m. (EST) launch from Cape Kennedy, the Apollo 9 crewmen deftly executed the difficult transposition and docking maneuver that was critical to the success of their flight.

Scott started the maneuvers by separating the command module from the booster, moving away 50 feet and then skillfully guiding the docking probe on the command module nose into a docking collar on the moonship, which was still secured to the booster.

"Everything came off just right," McDivitt reported.

Later, the command module and lunar module, locked together into a rigid structure, was spring-ejected from the S4B.

"We have made a successful ejection," said McDivitt calmly. "Sounds beautiful," answered the ground.

Apollo 9, a complex 10-day mission which will put America on the threshold of a moon landing or slam the door indefinitely, was punched by the 36-story Saturn 5 rocket into orbit through a heavy cloud cover at the precise minute scheduled.

Ground controllers reported the orbit varied only slightly from the 119-mile circular orbit planned months before.

The Apollo 9 crew's job is the most demanding ever shouldered by American spacemen. During the next four days they will test the lunar module, or LEM, a fragile, spider-like spacecraft designed to land men on the moon, but which has never before flown manned in space.

It tests by the Apollo 9 crew prove the craft's design, an American crew is to land on the moon in mid-summer. If LEM fails in its debut, America's goal of landing men on the moon in this decade could be set back for many months.

The launch was precisely as planned, with the huge first stage Saturn 5 engines igniting and screaming up to their full 7.5 million pounds of thrust as scheduled. The huge rocket was fettered to earth momentarily while the engines roared to full power, and then it slowly started to lift away from its launch pad, riding a tail of fire twice its 363-foot length.

Liftoff came exactly at 11 a.m., the time of day planned months before, but three days later than expected. The launch was delayed from Friday, the originally scheduled date, when the crew contracted severe colds. Flight surgeons said Monday the crew was healthy and ready.

A film reel operated by a motion picture projector lasts about 20 minutes before a changeover is required.

Northeast Hit With New Snow In Light Storms

BOSTON (AP) — New England, racked by the third snowstorm in three weeks, got fresh accumulations Monday ranging from four inches to 1½ feet. Gale winds piled up man-high drifts.

On the coast from Maine to Rhode Island, heavy seas pounded beaches and produced some lowland flooding.

The latest storm caused one death. A Holyoke, Mass., man collapsed shoveling snow. Last week's storm resulted in 43 deaths.

In Boston, six inches of snow fell by early afternoon. The 1½ feet fell in the Hanover, N.H., area.

Logan International Airport in Boston was shut down from midnight until afternoon.

Cape Cod was one of the areas hit hardest by the storm. First snow fell, then rain.

The center of the storm remained more than 100 miles off the coast, and was moving slowly out to sea. Its outer fringes hobbled New England. In general, eastern portions of the region were most seriously hit.

Schools and factories were shut down throughout eastern New England, and travel by car was difficult.

Major highways were passable but hazardous. Some secondary roads which had not been cleared completely after last week's storm were impassable. Skidding accidents were numerous.

Long-range implications of the storm were troublesome. The spring thaw begins in a few weeks, and if the snow melts too quickly, serious flooding could result.

Meanwhile, weather watchers were looking nervously at a storm building in the South. It could overrun New England later in the week, perhaps on Wednesday, the Weather Bureau said.

FLAMES SWEEP THROUGH VANDALIA HOTEL

VANDALIA, Ill. (AP) — Flames swept through the 100-room Evans Hotel in downtown Vandalia early Monday morning, forcing scores of guests to flee.

Witnesses said the fire started in a basement restaurant and quickly spread to the upper floors of the five-story brick structure. Firemen from Vandalia were still fighting the blaze three and a half hours after it erupted.

No injuries were reported.

Australia's Outback is so dry that a single steer may need a square mile in which to graze.

Firemen Called Out Three Times Monday Evening

Fire department investigators returned to the Lukeman building on the Square, which was heavily damaged in a blaze in early January, to check on a faulty switch at 9:30 p.m. Monday.

Officials found that a short in the switch was causing sporadic flashing of a light in the building.

Two fire trucks sped to the scene of what was believed to be a fire at the Biederman Furniture Co. on West Morton Ave. at 6:30 p.m.

Investigators traced the cause of smoke and odor to a faulty neon light ballast, a regulator within the light unit. There was no damage.

Less than an hour later firemen answered another alarm, this time for a smoking vehicle.

Porter Mayner, 1123 Allen, called the department at 7:15 after noting what he thought was smoke pouring from his car. Investigation showed, however, that a radiator hose had been broken and what appeared to be smoke was actually thick steam, condensing when the water hit the hot engine.

DRIVER FINED ON LIQUOR COUNT

A 23-year-old Waverly man was fined $35 and court costs on his plea of guilty to illegal possession of liquor in Magistrate division of Morgan county circuit court Monday.

Russell W. Nagel, 23, of Route 2, Waverly, entered the plea stemming from an incident Feb. 15. He was charged by state police with the offense.

DISPLAY BROKEN AT ILLINOIS THEATER

City police were notified about noon Sunday of a burglary at the Illinois Theater. Someone had kicked the glass from a display case in the lobby and removed a camera. The camera was left on the premises, amid the broken glass. Police said the incident happened after 3 a.m. Sunday and entrance to the theater was apparently made through an unlocked door.

Sirhan Admits Killing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan took the witness stand at his murder trial Monday and quietly identified himself as the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. But he said that at the time of the shooting "I was not aware of anything."

"Did you or about the fifth of June, 1968, shoot Sen. Kennedy?" asked defense attorney Grant Cooper as he began his examination of the young Jordanian Arab, who is on trial for his life.

"Yes sir," replied Sirhan in an even tone.

Cooper then referred to the grand jury indictment which also charges Sirhan with the wounding of five bystanders in the Ambassador Hotel, the scene of Kennedy's slaying.

The defendant testified that he knew none of them, bore no malice against them and when he was asked if he was aware of shooting them he answered:

"I was not aware of anything."

Cooper quoted from a page of the notebook found in Sirhan's home in which was written, "My determination is more the more to kill Sen. Robert F. Kennedy."

Q. Did you write that?
A. Yes I did.

Cooper read a passage in which Sirhan had written "RFK must die" and asked, "Is that your hand writing?" Sirhan said it was.

He followed his mother, Mary, to the stand. She testified he was exposed to childhood horrors that sent him into shaking fits.

"How long would he shake," she was asked.

"Two weeks," recalled Mrs. Sirhan.

Sirhan was the seventh defense witness in the nine-week-old trial.

Cooper began leading Sirhan through a recital of the horror poverty that he experienced as a child in Jerusalem during Arab-Zionist warfare. The defense claims this is a key to Sirhan's emotional development and the state of his mind at the time he killed Kennedy.

Sirhan referred to what he called frequent bombings in the area of his home.

Sirhan told of huddling for heat around an open brazier in a bombed-out building where seven or eight other families lived. "We had to rehabilitate the building. We had to cement it and whitewash it," he said.

Sirhan couldn't recall having starvation pangs, but "if there had been more we could have eaten more." People in the neighborhood died of starvation, he said.

Sirhan was still being questioned about his childhood in Jerusalem when the trial was recessed for the night. He was expected to resume the stand Tuesday.

In an emotional aside at one point, the 4-foot-11 mother said to the jury of four women and eight men: "I tell you we are lucky in this country. I want you to know this. We are blessed to be in this country

Crimsons Stave Off Stubborn Hornets

By BUFORD GREEN
Sports Editor

Top-rated Jacksonville survived a surprising scare from upset-minded Brown County en route to a 78-62 victory, while 'Little David' Triopia streaked to its 26th straight victory, a 69-40 romp over Rushville, in first round action in the JHS Regional Tournament at the Bowl Monday evening.

With Jacksonville, now 16-8 on the season, and District champion Triopia, now 26-2, setting a semi-final date at 7:30 Thursday, tonight's continuing first-round play pits second-rated Pittsfield (16-7) against Routt (9-14) at 7:00, and third-seeded Beardstown (15-9) against Winchester (9-15) at 8:30.

The two games were in complete contrast to their expected billing, with Jacksonville having its hands full with Brown County until the final three minutes, and Triopia having no trouble at all with Rushville.

Jacksonville's final 16-point margin was by no means an indication of the furious fourth quarter. The heavily-favored Crimsons led by as many as 14 points in the third quarter before Brown County put on a surge that closed the gap to three points with 4:11 left in the game. From there JHS scored 13 straight points and won going away.

Triopia, on the other hand, was never threatened, leading 19-8 after eight minutes, 32-19 at halftime and 55-26 entering the final eight minutes. The Trojans' tight 1-2-3 zone defense completely throttled the Rockets, and the Triopia offense shot along at a steady 50 per cent clip.

While JHS did not play its best ball of the season by a long shot, Brown County put on an impressive show of hustle and defense that kept the Crimsons stymied for a good share of the evening. Brown County, out-sized by plenty, relied on a pressing man-to-man defense that got results, and a second-half hot streak that made a game of it until the final three minutes.

Only a 19-point second half by Chad Ormiston and an 11-point half by Duane Mounts staved off the onrushing Hornets. Jacksonville took a 38-27 margin into the second half, and, behind Ormiston, jumped the spread to 14 points early in the period.

Brown County, behind 5-8 Jim Anderson, refused to give up the battle and came back to close the gap to 51-40 entering the final eight minutes. Bob Galloway and Don Ingram soon narrowed the difference to seven points.

Mounts and Ormiston continued to match buckets with Dick Stout and Warren Martin with the margin varying between seven and nine points. Brown County, hitting six straight long range bombs, further cut the gap to 58-54 and had the ball with 4:30 showing, then sliced the count to 59-56 with 4:11 left, on Pat Tracy's two free throws.

From there the roof fell in on the Hornets. Stout fouled out with just over four minutes to play and the eventual losers committed six straight turnovers to the JHS press. Rick Hatcher scored from 15 feet, Frank Lawrence hit a layup after a Mounts steal and Ormiston swished a layup through the press for six points in less than 30 seconds.

The deluge continued with Rod Simonds hitting a free throw, Ormiston a three-point, Mounts a layup after a steal and Ormiston a charity toss for a safe 72-56 spread with only 2:14 left in the game. The 13 straight points came in just over a two-minute period and settled the outcome.

Brown County gave evidence of its intentions in the opening quarter when Jacksonville missed its first seven shots and Brown County jumped to leads of 5-1, 6-2 and 8-4. JHS came back to knot the game three straight times, and finally surged to a 19-11 lead at the end of the quarter, with Ormiston, Simonds and Lawrence accounting for the final nine points of the quarter. Brown County's Galloway, the team's second leading scorer, picked up four fouls in the opening four minutes.

The Crimsons upped their lead to 11 points at 33-22 midway through the quarter and maintained the lead at intermission, with Lawrence hitting three charity throws in the final eight seconds.

Statistically JHS held a sizeable 35-16 board advantage but committed 26 turnovers to Brown County's 24. The losers, who bowed out at 8-16, outshot the winners 50 per cent to 49 per cent.

Ormiston had his best varsity night with a 29-point blast, followed by Mounts with 17, Lawrence with 13 and Simonds 12. Anderson topped the losers with 15 points.

Triopia methodically wore down Rushville, playing without second leading scorer Bob Patterson, still nursing a sprained ankle. With the Trojans' defense giving Rushville only rushed shots as a rule, the Triopia offense was never off target.

Breaking from a 2-2 tie, Triopia ripped off nine straight points to lead 11-2 and was up 19-8 at the end of eight minutes. Rushville's only serious threat came in the second period, when Joe Reische led a rally that closed the gap to six points, 21-15, with 4:00 showing. From there Triopia outscored Rushville 11-4 in the remaining four minutes and held a 32-19 advantage at intermission.

Rushville came out of its zone defense in the third quarter to no avail. After Jim Six and Ewing traded three-point plays to open the frame, Triopia tore off 12 straight points and led 47-22 with 3:46 left in the third chapter.

The difference mounted to 31 points late in the period, as Triopia continually broke players loose near the bucket off single and double screens along the baseline.

Triopia ended up shooting an even 50 per cent to Rushville's 40 per cent, and held a 30-19 board margin, 11-3 offensively. Rushville committed 20 floor mistakes to Triopia's eight.

Four starters reached double figures for the winners, led by Dennis Braner with 19, while Ewing's 13 points were high for Rushville, which ended the year with an 11-14 mark.

Duck Hunters Face Restricted Hunting Season

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mississippi Flyway waterfowl hunters face the possibility of a severely restricted, possibly even closed, duck hunting season this year.

That is the indication after John S. Gottschalk, director of the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, outlined his bureau's policy to a National Waterfowl Council meeting here Sunday.

At the same time, Gottschalk urged increases in the fees paid by hunters for the right to shoot waterfowl.

The current mallard population continent-wide is estimated at 6.5 million by the government. That, Gottschalk said, is "about as low as it's ever been."

The Mississippi Flyway Council, whose recommendations play an important part in bureau regulations, tabled Sunday a proposal that no duck hunting at all be permitted in the flyway next fall.

But it also passed a resolution urging its members to advise the public that a closed season is possible.

Final decision on the committee's recommendations will be made at its general meeting Aug. 6 and 7 in Biloxi, Miss.

The Mississippi Flyway is composed of the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama. Louisiana last year announced its withdrawal from the flyway council but the council has not acted yet on the move.

Gottschalk also said Sunday he wants an increase in duck stamp fees from the present $3 to $5 and he proposed a $1 fee for hunting migratory birds other than waterfowl such as doves and woodcock.

He said more money is needed for the acquisition of water lands along migration routes for breeding purposes and for wildlife refuges.

Such fee increases require congressional approval.

Southern Ends With 75-69 Romp

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — The NIT-bound Southern Illinois Salukis capitalized on 20 turnovers and finished their regular season Monday night with a 75-69 victory over Indiana State.

The Salukis took an 8-0 lead in the first two minutes of play and the Sycamores pulled to within a point four times, each time falling back. Their last charge came midway in the second half, but Dick Garrett, who had 23 points, scored five points in less than a minute.

Indiana State outshot and out-rebounded SIU, but they also out-mistaked them, handing the Salukis' seven turnovers.

Panthers, Birds Win At Carrollton

CARROLLTON — Top-rated Jacksonville cruised past Pleasant Hill 91-53, and fourth-seeded Southwestern clipped fifth-rated Calhoun 61-46, in the first night of the Carrollton Regional Monday evening.

In tonight's two first round contests second-rated Greenville (19-5) faces Carrollton (7-15) at 7:00 and North Greene (14-10) goes against Brussels (12-8).

Jacksonville, now 19-6 on the year, had all ten players scored by Mike Church with 24 points and Scott Posey with 18. Chris Jakulski topped the losers, who finished a 1-20 campaign, with 18 points. Gary Hart added 17.

The Panthers jumped in front 21-9 at the end of the first round, and after being outscored 19-15 in the second stanza, iced the outcome with a 28-7 difference in the third quarter.

Southwestern, now 7-16, got a 33-point production from Ken Schrier enroute to its victory. Schrier whipped in 12 points in the opening period as Southwestern jumped in from 24-17. The eventual winners outscored Calhoun, which finished at 8-15, in each of the final three frames to win going away.

Jerome Elmore paced the losers with 25 points. Jacksonville will face Southwestern in a semi-final contest at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Proviso East Stays Atop Prep Ratings

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Proviso East, a strong defensive unit, remained the No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll Monday and the favorite to capture the Illinois high school basketball tournament.

The Galesburg Silver Streaks, who were the state runnersup last year, held second but Lockport Central took over third from Harvey Thornton.

Proviso East, led by 6-6 Jim Brewer, came close for the second consecutive week to being a unanimous favorite in the poll. The Pirates collected 254 of a possible 256 poll points.

Proviso is the champion of the Suburban League which last year produced the state titlist in Evanston.

One notable change in this week's ratings eliminated Fairfield from the top 16. Fairfield, unbeaten up to last week, lost to McLeansboro and Lawrenceville.

Peoria Spalding entered the ratings for the first time this season in the No. 15 spot. The top 16 teams with won-loss records through Monday and poll points:

1. Proviso East 21-1 254
2. Galesburg 19-2 238
3. Lockport Central 20-1 208
4. Harvey Thornton 20-3 203
5. Rock Isl. Alleman 2-2 181
6. Carbondale 20-3 145
7. Edwardsville 21-3 136

DETROIT COACH QUILTS

DETROIT (AP) — Robert "Bo" Calihan Monday announced the end of a 21-year career as head basketball coach at the University of Detroit.

The 50-year-old Calihan said he planned to devote his full energies to the position of director of athletics, a post he has held for five years.

Calihan leaves an over-all record at Detroit of 305-242.

Six Cardinals Get Wealthy Contracts

By The Associated Press
Gussie Busch better sell plenty of beer this week. He'll need the income to pay off the massive contract signings of six St. Louis Cardinal stars Monday.

Bob Gibson headed the list of signees, agreeing to a reported $125,000 contract. Outfielders Curt Flood and Lou Brock, third baseman Mike Shannon and pitchers Nelson Briles and Ray Washburn also signed. The package reportedly cost Busch $425,000, which adds up to a lot of six-packs.

And while the National League champion Cardinals quickly became a team with players, Rusty Staub and Jesus Alou found themselves players without a team.

Staub was swapped by Houston to Montreal for Alou and Donn Clendenon during the winter but the deal was clouded last week by Clendenon's announced retirement.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Monday asked the Astros and Expos to keep both Staub and Alou out of uniform until a settlement could be reached. Both clubs will huddle with Warren Giles, president of the National League, and perhaps Kuhn, to straighten out the trade.

There were some notable arrivals in the Florida camps, with Roberto Clemente showing up at Pittsburgh's Fort Myers base and Mike Epstein meeting his new manager, Ted Williams, at Washington's Pompano Beach headquarters.

Pirate Manager Larry Shepard said Clemente, three-time National League batting champ, seemed in good shape and recovered from the shoulder ailment which hampered him last year. Williams said Epstein, the highly touted but so far disappointed first baseman, "should be a good hitter, if he listens."

Ron Santo, Chicago Cubs' all-star third baseman, had some fluid drained from his bruised right elbow and missed his second day of practice in the Cubs' Scottsdale, Ariz., base. Santo had a shot of hydrocortisone in the elbow and Dr. Jacob Suker, the club physician, said he would reexamine the infielder Tuesday.

Gary Nolan, Cincinnati's 20-year-old right-hander, threw 20 minutes of batting practice at Tampa, Fla., and said he felt good. Nolan was troubled by a sore arm much of last year.

Relief specialist Moe Drabowsky arrived in the Kansas City Royals' Fort Myers, Fla., camp and threw for 15 minutes even though Manager Joe Gordon had given the team a day off.

The Minnesota Twins, at Orlando, Fla., and New York Yankees, at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., had rainy weather but it was all sunshine for Baltimore's Boog Powell, who signed a $45,000 contract with the Orioles.

The Yankees also called off a B squad game scheduled against Montreal for Sunday because Manager Ralph Houk felt his pitchers would have to carry too heavy a load this week. "I don't want to play three doubleheaders in the first week," said Houk.

SANTO HAS FLUID TAKEN FROM ELBOW

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — A small amount of fluid was drained from third baseman Ron Santo's bruised right elbow Monday as the Chicago Cubs' captain missed his second straight day of practice.

Dr. Jacob Suker, the club physician, gave Santo a shot of hydrocortisone after canceling scheduled x-rays. The elbow was bandaged, and Dr. Suker said another examination would be made Tuesday.

The Cubs returned to routine drills after Manager Leo Durocher said that the spring's third and final camp game will be played Wednesday. South paw pitcher Ken Holtzman, the last of the rostered players to report, took part in his first drill. The Cubs open their 29-game exhibition schedule in Scottsdale Friday against the San Francisco Giants.

Bowlers Of The Week

Chet Reum

A pair of experienced, multi-league bowlers have captured the "Bowler-of-the-Week" honors.

Brenda Proffitt rolled her highest series in taking the honor, while Chet Reum spends almost every night of the week at one or the other of the local lanes.

The women's winner rolled a 575 series and 203 game to capture the honors. In five years of bowling she has rolled a 220 high game.

The winning series and game combination came in action in the Pla-Mor League at the Bowl Inn. She also bowls in the Queen Pin League.

Reum bowls in four leagues: Senior Commercial League, City League, Elks League at the Bowl Inn and the Three-Man Scratch League where he posted the marks which topped him the weekly honor.

He rolled a 788, four-game high series and included in it a 257 high game while bowling for the News Agency team.

In nine years on the lanes, his highest three-game series is a 692, and Reum is one shy of a perfect game, having rolled a 299 count.

Detroit Rookie Thanks Baseball Cards For Role

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — In Bradford, Ont., hockey is king and organized baseball nonexistent.

But thanks to bubble gum cards, a 23-year-old southpaw pitcher from Bradford may become a member of the champions of all baseball—the Detroit Tigers.

Mike Kilkenny, a tall, slender relief pitcher, is one of 10 rookie hurlers trying to make the grade with the Tigers this spring. And insiders say he has a fine chance to make the 25-man roster when Detroit opens the season April 8 against Cleveland.

"I'll be darned if I know how I got interested in baseball," Kilkenny said, munching on a piece of celery after practice at Marchant Stadium.

"Maybe bubble gum cards got me started," he added seriously. "Ya, that must be it, bubble gum cards. I have been saving them since 1953 and I still have them."

"Not much goes on in Bradford, except hockey," he said. The closest thing to baseball is to go to town and buy a ball. There are 2,300 people in the town, and the indoor ice arena there holds more than the population.

Kilkenny said he played hockey until he was about 16 or 17 but didn't like it because there was too much contact. "If you were good at it you went somewhere," he said, "and if you weren't good you stayed in town and played for the fun of it."

He said there was a Pee Wee baseball league for one year which he joined but because of lack of enthusiasm it lasted only one year.

"After that I joined a league in Toronto, 50 miles away," he said. "I used to have to drive there. We played about 28 games, but that was the closest place to play."

"There were only two left-handers on the team so I became a pitcher."

Esposito Holds 11-Point Lead In NHL Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston's Phil Esposito, the record-breaking center, holds an 11-point lead over Chicago's Bobby Hull in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race with only four weeks left in the regular season.

The latest statistics, released Monday, shows Esposito with 101 points on 40 goals and a leading 61 assists while Hull has a pace-setting 46 goals plus 44 assists for 90 points. Esposito broke the scoring record Saturday night when he collected his 98th point. The mark was shared by Hull and teammate Stan Mikita.

Gordie Howe of Detroit is third with 86 points, followed by Mikita with 80 and Jean Beliveau, Montreal, 76.

The St. Louis combination of Glenn Hall and Jacques Plante continue to lead the goalies with an average yield of only 2.00 goals a game.

Forbes Kennedy, traded Monday by Philadelphia to Toronto, has the most penalty minutes, 195.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — For the 47th year, the Champaign-Urbana Kiwanis Club will be host at a season-ending banquet for the University of Illinois basketball team.

SQUEEZE PLAY: Paul Burton of Rushville is caught between Bernie Meyer (43) and Wes Hendricker of Triopia as he gets caught in the middle of a screen by Hendricker. Play came in Triopia's 69-40 romp in the JHS Regional Monday night.

Kentucky Ices SEC Title 90-86 For NCAA Spot

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Kentucky won its 24th Southeastern Conference Basketball championship Monday night, beating Auburn 90-86 with a late spur that gave the Wildcats a record 17th berth in the NCAA playoffs.

The triumph was sixth-ranked Kentucky's 15th against two league losses, with only a game against second-place Tennessee left on the schedule.

The Volunteers beat Vanderbilt 70-60 Monday night to clinch the runner-up spot with a 13-43 league mark.

The Wildcats took a 44-39 lead at the half before John Mengelt led an Auburn surge that sent the Tigers to a 66-58 advantage with 11 minutes left.

The balanced Kentucky attack swept the Wildcats to a 71-70 lead with seven minutes left and Auburn never caught up.

Dan Issel scored 34 points, Mike Casey 23 and Mike Pratt 18 as Kentucky stretched its season record to 21-4.

CLAIM ELKS TITLES
Connie Hanley captured the singles title and Fred May and Reg Felthauer claimed the doubles honors in the first of three Sunday afternoon Elks Club table tennis tournaments, Sunday.

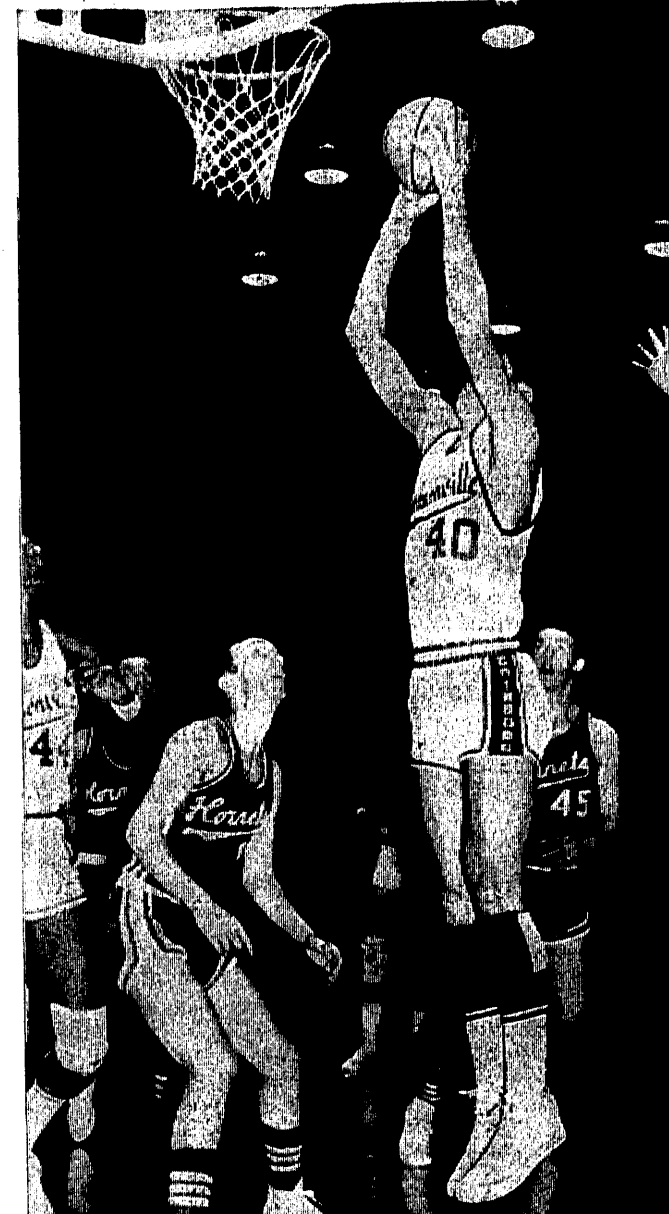

Hanley whipped Chuck Lockman 21-13, 19-21 and 21-12 for the singles crown. May and Felthauer won over Bill Ware and Jerry Bonjean for the doubles title. Bill Ware was third in singles and Clarence Birdsell and Hanley finished third in doubles.

Taxpayers Use Wrong Table For IRS Report

SPRINGFIELD — Over 3,600 taxpayers in the Springfield District have used the wrong tax table or rate schedule so far this year, in computing their 1968 Federal income tax.

Not only have refunds been delayed but many have overpaid their income tax as a result, Jay G. Philpott, IRS District Director for Central and Southern Illinois, said.

Mr. Philpott said the problem can arise when a married taxpayer filing a joint return uses the tax table for either married couples filing separately or for single persons. Single taxpayers are also using the tables for married taxpayers by mistake.

There are separate tax tables for single persons, married couples filing jointly and married couples filing separate returns. To avoid mistakes, use the right one, Mr. Philpott urged Springfield District taxpayers.

Computation from the wrong tax table and errors in computing the tax surcharge results in the wrong tax due. Some, as a result of the error receive a smaller, or larger refund and others receive a bill for additional tax.

Another major reason for refund delay is the failure of taxpayers to include their correct Social Security number, Mr. Philpott added.

So far this year, 606 refunds have been delayed in the Springfield District because of incorrect or missing Social Security numbers, he reported.

Other refunds are being held up for a variety of other errors or failures to follow instructions mailed to each taxpayer with his return.

So far errors in arithmetic are causing delay in sending refunds to 952 taxpayers in the Springfield District.

Up to last week, tax returns filed included 535 without signatures, including those of husband or wife on joint returns. These have to be sent back to the taxpayers before refunds can be processed.

Mr. Philpott said 120,543 taxpayers in the Springfield District have received refunds totaling $22,573,425 since January.

Finds Plenty Of Trouble Looking Under Car Hood

JERSEYVILLE — John Dublo of Jerseyville ran into "double trouble" Friday. He had engine trouble with his car and parked it on the highway near Alton, and got under the hood to locate the source.

While under the hood another car came along and edged the Dublo vehicle into the right lane. Arrival of a third car pushed the other vehicle into the left lane and the Dublo car went into a ditch. Dublo escaped with minor lacerations. None of the participants were charged. Road conditions at the time were very hazardous.

Miss Mary Copeland, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Copeland of Jerseyville, was involved in a car accident at 8:30 a.m. Thursday on Route 100. She suffered laceration of the left cheek and contusions and bruises.

Ruth Lahey in the same accident incurred a vertical laceration of the right eyebrow.

WHEAT, CORN UP 1 CENT A BUSHEL, SOYBEANS DOWN

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat and corn futures prices advanced 1 cent a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday, but oats, rye and soybeans declined from 1 to 3 cents.

Despite the fairly wide price range, trade was only moderate between the opening and closing activity.

Wheat futures came under liquidation at the opening, easing ½ cent before resistance was met and prices leaped upwards. Movement thereafter was slow until the closing 30 minutes when buying momentum turned up. Rye prices generally fluctuated with wheat but failed to share any of the buying activity at the close.

At the close, wheat was ¾ to 1 cent a bushel higher, March 1.28¾; corn was ½ to 1 cent higher, March 1.14¾; oats were ¾ to 3¼ lower, March 66½; rye was ¾ to 1½ lower, March 1.14¾; and soybeans were ¼ to ¾ lower, March 2.60¾.

Hypnosis Can Help Some, Hinder Others

(Second of a Series.)
By DAVID SHAW
Written for NEA

NEW YORK (NEA) — With more than 30 million Americans overweight and almost as many suffering from any one of a score of nervous habits, it may some day be impossible to open a magazine or turn on the television without seeing advertisements by hypnotists claiming they can cure every bad habit from alcoholism to acrophobia to zepophobia.

In the hands of a hypnotist skilled in psychology or psychiatry, hypnosis can, as advertised, relieve most individuals of these habits and phobias. It can, in the words of psychiatrist Dr. W. C. McCall, "be the least expensive, most effective, long-lasting tranquilizer available in medicine today."

But in the hands of a hypnotist untrained in medicine and unfamiliar with the intricacies of the human mind, hypnosis can twist a mild, harmless neurosis into an acute, destructive psychosis.

"Eating, smoking, drinking, nail-biting and the like are all defense mechanisms," says psychiatrist Dr. David Johnston, president of the Southern California Society for Clinical Hypnosis. "They are forms of oral gratification, like thumb-sucking. Unless the hypnotist tries to find out why the patient needs this gratification, curing the habit may force the patient into a different, far more dangerous behavior pattern."

If the patient wants to lose weight or stop smoking, for example, the hypnotist merely suggests to him, under hypnosis, that certain kinds of food or cigarettes will taste terrible. When the patient is brought out of the trance, they will taste terrible.

But if the patient overeats because of some deep-seated emotional disorder, if smoking is his only outlet for severe stresses at work and home, breaking the nervous habit can be dangerous.

In many instances, of course, the patient's emotional disorder may have a psychosomatic overlay, a nervous habit that could be removed through hypnosis to comfort him and facilitate the psychiatrist's search for the disorder itself.

Unfortunately, many hypnotists remove the symptom and ignore the disorder. In the words of Southern California psychiatrist Dr. Bernard Teitel, they "treat the hysterical or depressive manifestations and allow the underlying psychopathology to go galloping along."

Dr. Teitel speaks from experience. In an address to a national convention of psychiatrists, he told of a man who came to him for help after a hypnotist put him on a diet — and he became impotent.

Another patient was able to stop smoking by posthypnotic suggestion, but developed ulcer symptoms. A woman, hypnotized to believe her sore but medically sound back no longer hurt, became schizoid, then paranoid. She's now in a mental institution. Other psychiatrists have made similar reports.

A skilled psychologist or psychiatrist using hypnosis as an adjunct to his technique may often be able to cure both the disorder and the symptom. And, even more often, may find the habit or phobia is a symptom of a condition that has long since disappeared.

Though the hypnotic treatment of smoking, drinking and overeating threatens to become as widespread as the habits themselves, hypnosis is also being used, to a far lesser degree, in such areas as thumb-sucking and bed-wetting in children, acne, eczema and nervous tics in adolescents and anorexia, insomnia, kleptomania, homosexuality, frigidity and impotence in adults.

Confidence-building, often overlooked by hypnotists without psychological or psychiatric insight, is extremely important.

Patients who seek hypnotherapy are often lacking in self-confidence, and even those who are normally confident may become less so in the hypnotist-subject relationship.

As Dr. Teitel says, hypnosis can "deprive man of his opportunity to resolve the difficulties himself through active mastery, and impose on him a passive, infantile adjustment." Thus, confidence-building is the touchstone of most reliable hypnotic treatment, including one of the most successful on record, the dieting system Dr. Peter Lindner describes in his best-selling book, "Mind Over Platter."

Unlike most hypnotists, Dr. Lindner does not tell his patients sweets and carbohydrates will taste terrible. This method, he says, is "very short-lived and completely ineffective."

Instead, Dr. Lindner has his patient visualize himself "eating less food, but really enjoying every bit, getting more mileage out of what he eats."

Dr. Lindner and men like him have made dieting the single most popular application of hypnosis in America today.

But to many who have seen the benefits of hypnosis in other medical applications, particularly as anesthesia in surgery, discussing the hypnotically induced ability to push away a piece of pie (or a cigarette) seems a ludicrously inadequate testimonial for medical hypnosis.

"Joy" On Skid Row

CHICAGO (AP) — There is one Joy on Skid Row. She is Joy Shafer, 24, a pretty, blonde nurse who bandages "winesores," passes out pills for the shakes, prescribes help for those who want it and hope for men who have none.

"She's an angel," said a white-haired man standing outside a cheap saloon. He scorns the social agencies who operate missions in the area.

"They live in nice homes, drive big cars and come here to look at us. The one place we can go is the clinic to see Joy."

"She's the best," said another man wrapped in a thin, worn, dirty tarp. "If anyone tried to hurt her..."

Each morning Joy gets off the commuter train in the midst of the sparkling glass and steel towers downtown. She walks down West Madison Street three blocks to the Salvation Army clinic where she spends 10 hours a day.

Many of the men wave to her and some try to bum the price of a drink. She always refuses. "I get so mad at the businessmen downtown who give them money," she said.

Downtown, the store windows advertise winter clearance sales and spring preview. Where Joy walks the signs are always the same: "Beer and a shot — 30c"

Medical Care Joy and her assistant, Mrs. Karen Dudenhofer, 24, sort out the ailments. Karen calls six men who need fresh bandages for their ulcerated legs. Joy handles the colds, coughs and shakes.

"Jerry, you sit on the stool," Joy orders. "What are you here for?"

Jerry, an unshaven man in his 40s, turns away and mutters, "My leg..."

"What's wrong with your leg?" Joy asks. "Jerry, what are you here for. I want a straight, forward answer. No dramatics. Tell me."

"I'm relying on you... my leg... I needed an excuse. I been walking the street all night."

elderly persons now chauffeured to various activities and medical appointments would be left stranded, paperwork for countless programs would be left undone—well, the list seems endless.

Then I thought I might point out that women holding down paying jobs are also contributing to the community by the very fact that they do work outside their homes. I thought of asking the businessmen to close their eyes and try to envision how it would be—merely in the downtown area—if female employees walked off their jobs.

I almost took the coward's way out by making up a tidy little speech about how thankful I was for the way the Kiwanians had contributed to our city in the way of unpaid, after-business-hours service.

In the end, I stepped down from my pedestal and decided to talk to them from the individual citizen angle, as one woman, one mother.

I have served my community first by bearing five children, all of whom I send to public schools. I, along with other women, do some of the family banking, a big percentage of the shopping and most of the appointment-setting with dentists, doctors dancing school teachers, etc. In the past year I have also called upon the street department, the dogcatcher and the police chief for help.

Think about it. If it weren't for people like me, not only would the gentlemen have a lot of time they now spend on community service on their hands, but half of them would be out of jobs.

or so ago. The plant is currently under construction.

Mr. Houser said the pipes to the basin were not connected as yet and had not been capped because the contractor could not predict the two-inch rain.

He said the pipes took water backwards and flooded the basin, causing water to be pumped out later.

Houser said that when the pipes are connected, there will be no difficulty involved, since it will be a complete system.

Houser also added that the sewage treatment plant is constructed two feet above the highest "high-water mark" ever recorded in the area.

There were no questions from members of the council.

Two Slots Vacant
The official canvass of the primary election was approved and placed on file by council vote. All of the candidates listed were the same as announced during the unofficial election figures.

Added to the list was Marion Schell, Republican, as alderman in the second ward; and Melvin R. Ladson, Jr., Democrat, as alderman in the sixth ward.

Two vacancies still exist on the Democratic ticket; candidates for aldermen in the first and fourth wards. Both slots could be filled by party caucus prior to the general election, April 15. The Republican slate is complete from top to bottom.

Concern At Crossing
Rev. Gerald Peterson and three mothers whose children use the South Clay crossing at Morton Avenue were on hand to express their concern that a patrolman was not on duty on at least one occasion during the past several days when children were crossing.

Mayor Holkenbrink said he did not know what the difficulty was but he would see that it does not happen again.

Holkenbrink urged aldermen and residents of the area to encourage potential crossing guards to make application at city hall. The mayor said he felt the position should be filled for at least the rest of the school year and he would urge anyone interested to apply at city hall.

Fernandes said the highway running through the center of the square caused the old surface to give way. He said the state should help return the square to its original condition.

Police identified the man as Charles R. Hunter, 21, of Beardstown who appeared in court at 2:30 p.m. Monday.

Bond was set at $5,000 and his case continued to March 5.

The robbery reportedly occurred about 11 p.m. Sunday, although police were not contacted until 12:37 a.m. Monday.

An unidentified woman told officers she was in the basement of her home when she heard someone come in the unlocked front door.

She said that she went upstairs and reached the top of the stairway in the kitchen when she was confronted by a young man holding a knife.

Police officers said they felt the woman talked her way out of a serious situation. Police said she suffered some bruises resulting from a scuffle but that the young man left after taking $20. The knife was from a wall hanger in the kitchen and it was left at the scene.

Police said the unharmed woman gave a good description of the man and he was arrested at 2:28 a.m. Monday as he was preparing to check into the Douglas hotel. Police credited the cooperation of a private citizen with helping in the arrest.
